The Savonas are a family of sailors coming from generations of craftsmen and wooden ship builders.

An unbreakable bond with the sea, a true story of passion. They arrived in Sardinia in the 19th century from Sicily, land of renowned maritime traditions.

A Savona family member, a 5th generation Sardinian native, with a new company and the same passion and devotion of his forefathers, linked together with green company vision, wanted to create high-technological and eco-friendly marine products.
