4. ACCOMODATION

The large cockpit, featuring an extendable table with chairs and a bench for eight people, has access to the salon, divided in living area and dining area, able to accommodate up to ten guests. Continuing towards the bow, you find the wide galley with teak wood floor and a dinette including bench and chairs for four people. A large cupboard could be used to accommodate an additional fridge or a freezer. The galley gives acces to the crew quarters, able to host up to four people in two double cabins with two bathrooms.

On the main deck, at bow, in a privileged position allowing the maximum privacy, is located the master cabin, with wide windows on both sides and two armchairs with a semi-oval tea table, extendable to a writing desk or to serve a private breakfast. The master cabin has private access to a large wardrobe and to a bathroom with marble plans and a large shower cabin.

Downstairs on the lower deck, a wide space could be fitted as a storage room or an additional wardrobe for the guests. The lower deck offers four cabins: two VIP cabins with double bed and wardrobe, and two twin beds cabins, each served by a private bathroom fitted with marble surfaces and shower.

The Navetta 26 makes life on board in the open air extremely comfortable: the main deck, at bow, and the upper deck, sternwards, accommodate two large sun bathing cushions. An extendable table for up to eight people, a barbeque and a peak, wich can be convert into a fridge, complete the furnishing.

The flybridge has a large open-air panoramic area with L-shaped sofa and a tea table table separated from outside by a window that can be opened allowing the sight of the sea. The pilot house, is located in an elevated position that allows a better control expecially when mooring.
